About This Game

Friends always manage, because they stick together, no matter what. Five friends are walking through the ancient Castle Balthasar, that is embedded in Europa-Park, one of the largest theme parks in the world. They enjoyed a fabulous day together filled with stunning rollercoaster rides, spectacular shows and lots of fun. While having a break at Balthasar Castle they step on a hidden trap door and are falling into the underground of the castle. Below the castle they get lost in a mysterious maze of forgotten dungeons. They are all alone but they know they can escape only together. Watch out the "Nightgrabber" on the way out, that is trying to keep them in the dungeon and putting obstacles into their way.

I would recommend for children.

also note that one mouse button is for movement and the other mouse button is for special skill so to jump the pit, you click on the center of the pit. Personally i wouldn't recommend this game because the game isn't very smooth(the game feels a bit buggy).

Pro's :

- Some levels are fun(but these are hard to find)

Cons :

- Graphics are terrible
- Gameplay isn't smooth
- weird random loud sound effects(very cheap ones)
- Easy animations
- Death animation is buggy
- Checkpoints are hard to find(I needed to do the tutorial all over again after finishing it.
- Controls aren't explained at the beginning(Had to look for them in the menu.)

I'd give this game a 3/10, it might be fun to play if you can pick it up for just one dollar but 10$ is way above the game's quality.

Steam refund was luckily my saviour!. Nope. Even with a mouse in it, it's nope.. After about 25min of play I had 2 crashes, multiple times where the camera and the things I was controlling would go anywhere they wanted.

The game at least to my experience, is all over the place. It has potetial and if it is fixed it could make an ok game, especially for younger ages. But at the current (12th of July 2015) state, ehh, yeah...
